

PRECISION ORTHOPEDICS

New Home, New Brand,
Same Great Care

After more than two decades of providing quality orthopedic care in Irving, Precision Orthopedics & Sports Medicine - formerly Irving Orthopedics & Sports Medicine - is opening a second office in Southlake.

"Most of our doctors live in Southlake and have for years," says Dr. Robert Bayless, president and founder of the practice. "We love the city and want to be an integral part of the community."

Sited to open in September, the Southlake office - conveniently located on the corner of State Highway 114 and White Chapel Boulevard - will offer all of the same specialty care that patients at the Irving practice have grown accustomed to. The staff at Precision Orthopedics remains committed to providing state-of-the-art care.

"We are a one-stop shop," Dr. Bayless says. "We cover all orthopedic subspecialties including regenerative orthopedics utilizing the latest stem cell techniques."

Between Dr. Bayless and the rest of his team, Precision Orthopedics covers problems from spine to toe. The current seven doctors each bring a unique skill set to the growing practice. The talented team includes:

Dr. Steven Sanders - Fellowship-trained and an expert in joint replacement surgeries for the knee, hip and shoulder. Dr. Sanders is also a published author, including "The Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery." He has been honored in "Who's Who" and has been granted the Gerhard Kuntzler top orthopedic award. Apart from joint replacement, Dr. Sanders also has special interests in sports medicine, arthroscopy, visco-supplementation for arthritis of the knee and nonsurgical regenerative options including stem cell treatments.

Dr. Yong Pak - Fellowship-trained as a pain management physician, Dr. Pak treats back pain, neck pain, sciatica, radiculopathy (cervical, lumbar, and thoracic), knee pain, hip pain and a wide variety of other conditions. He also does electromyography and nerve conduction studies. Dr. Pak is well-versed in treatments such as epidural steroid injections and facet injections in the entire spine. Other procedures include sympathetic blocks, stellate ganglion blocks and botox injections.

Dr. John Milani - With a deep background in spinal surgeries, Dr. Milani is equipped to offer conservative and surgical treatment of all types of back and neck injuries and illnesses. Dr. Milani completed a fellowship in Spinal Cord Injuries and Spinal Pain at Dallas Rehabilitation Institute. Previously, he has served as Chief of Spinal Cord Injuries at Dallas Rehabilitation Institute and HealthSouth Medical Center.

Dr. Byung "BJ" Lee - After completing fellowships in hand and upper extremity surgery as well as orthopedic trauma,

Dr. Lee brings a wealth of knowledge to the practice. His areas of expertise include arthritis and fractures of the upper extremity, carpal and cubital tunnel syndrome, Dupuytren's contracture, tennis elbow, rotator cuff tears and tendon injuries. With training from Stanford University, Brown University and the University of Chicago, Dr. Lee is well equipped to serve the hand and upper extremity needs of the Southlake community.

Dr. Jaytinder Sandhu - Board-certified and fellowship-trained as a foot and ankle surgeon, Dr. Sandhu enjoys working with patients of all ages to treat a wide variety of foot and ankle disorders. He specializes in trauma and adult reconstructive surgery. Dr. Sandhu stays current with, and utilizes the latest advancements in foot and ankle surgery to help relieve patients' pain and get them back to active lifestyles.

Dr. Tariq Hendawi - Fellowship-trained by world renowned Orthopedic Sports Medicine Specialist, James R. Andrews, Dr. Hendawi has extensive training in minimally invasive arthroscopic surgery. He has a special interest in joint replacement of the shoulder, hip and knee and uses the latest technology to give the best possible outcome.

“Precision is what we do. It's not just our name, it's how we practice orthopedics.”

"Sports medicine is my passion, from the weekend warrior to the elite professional athlete," Dr. Hendawi says.

He enjoys treating all members of the Dragon family - from the high school athletic injury to the grandparent who needs a knee replacement.

Dr. Robert Bayless - UT Southwestern orthopedic program-trained with 30 years of experience, Dr. Bayless specializes in minimally invasive adult hip and knee reconstruction as well as all aspects of sports medicine. Dr. Bayless utilizes regenerative orthopedic techniques whenever possible to help preserve joints and heal injuries. When surgery is required then the least invasive technique is utilized.

"Precision is what we do," Dr. Bayless says. "It's not just our name, it's how we practice orthopedics."
